HIALEAH TO AID HAITI & THE CARRIBEAN

Hialeah, Florida – In light of the recent hurricanes and tropical storms that have wreaked havoc on the island of Haiti, the City of Hialeah will be collecting all kinds of non-perishable goods for the survivors who have been so severely affected by the storms.

Mayor Julio Robaina, the City of Hialeah, and the City Council urge all of its residents to reach out and make a donation of any size for those in desperate need of help in the poverty stricken country. Non perishable goods will be accepted at any of the City of Hialeah Fire Stations in the following days and more information will be given as it becomes available.

Many men, women and children in Haiti are now without food and water and the country is urgently crying for help. Please reach out and donate limit collections to non perishable foods and one small box or bag of clothing per family to any of the following fire stations –
